'LET MY PEOPLE GO'

is the summons of the Lord,
spoken to the lords of earth
who rule by chain and sword.
'Let my people go,'
the repeated, urgent call;
yet so many hearts are hard
and do not heed at all.

2 'Let my people go,'
for they truly are his own;
chosen, called, the firstborn son
eternally foreknown.
'Let my people go
so that they may all serve me';
once this people found escape
from terror, through the sea.

3 'Let my people go';
they are purchased with a price:
rescued by a life laid down,
the blood of sacrifice.
'Let my people go';
some still long to be set free:
so we cry to God to save
and bring full liberty.

4 'Let my people go';
let the world now hear God's voice;
giving justice, keeping faith
with people of his choice.
brothers, sisters, pray through pain
for their freedom, shelter, hope;
with them we plead again.

5 'Let my people go':
words that soon will be no more;
when God's universe, in Christ
shall worship and adore.
'Let my people go';
then the ending of the night,
when creation is renewed
in resurrection-light!
